Mission Statement

We unite talent with opportunities and believe there is a job that fits every person and a person that fits every job.

We will be the staffing company of choice by striving to surpass the expectations of employers, job seekers and our team members.

We operate our business based on our values and choose to work with employers who share those values. For those employers we increase productivity by providing quality placements and excellent service.

We believe that work is a key factor in achieving personal fulfillment. We value job seekers and employers equally and we strive for full employment in the U.S. Full employment requires that we service a broad range of employers to maximize opportunities for job seekers.

We believe that our team members are the most important ingredient in our ability to succeed and achieve excellence. We respect each person's uniqueness and the importance of family, personal growth and career. We will search to find employees who are long-term and promotable. We will properly prepare them for their position, and help them continue to grow and achieve success and satisfaction in their careers.

We recognize that as a team we can accomplish much more than if we operate as a collection of individuals. Our shared values are the foundation of our teamwork.

We hold ourselves to the highest ethical standards and practice honesty, fairness, truthfulness and the Golden Rule. We believe that most people want to do a good job and what is right and we will treat them accordingly. We believe our values and ethics will not limit our financial success but will ensure the character and strength of our company for the long term.

We foster creativity and continually challenge ourselves to be an innovative leader for our industry and our clients in developing services and fostering good public policy. We strive through our combined efforts and resources to shape a positive society.
